

OFFERS TO WED HER AT ONCE.

Wilson Says He'll Marry His Mascot
If the Court Will Let Him.

He's in Prison and Almost Forty,
and She's Sixteen and Free.

Sylvester P. Wilson, known to female baseballists as Manager W. S. Frank, is in a ground floor cell in the New York House of Detention, to which he has been consigned by Police Justice Meade in default of $5,000 bail for his appearance for examination in Harlem Police Court to-morrow.

Supt. Jenkins, of the City Society, was in court with Lydia or Abby Sunderland, the sixteen-year-old girl that Wilson is charged with luring away from Birmingham when she was only fifteen, when the case was called last evening.

Mr. Jenkins asked that the charge against Wilson be dismissed. He said:

"It only charges him with harboring her. In his place I would substitute another—that of seduction."

William F. Howe, counsel for Wilson, declared this an outrage and said that Wilson had rescued the girl from the worst kind of a life, had educated her and given her a home and, and in fact, treated her as his own daughter.

Mr. Howe insisted on having a stenographer, and the case was set down for to-morrow.

Citizen George Francis Train was in court yesterday afternoon when Wilson was arraigned. He said that Wilson was his theater manager, and he had known him for three years and never had any objection to him.

"I shall lecture on this case in Columbus Theatre next Sunday night," said he. "I like Abby, but I don't like the sensational persecution by the City Society."

Wilson has taken her from a drunken father, educated and clothed her, and this is his reward."

To an Evening World reporter this morning Wilson said:

"As evidence of my honorable intentions towards this girl and my desire to see her married, I have written her a letter."

"I am not a man of words, but I am a man of action. I have written her a letter, and I have given her a home and a home."

HARRY NEW'S NEW BRIDE.

The Indiana Newspaper Man Weds
Miss McLean This Afternoon.

A quiet little wedding at a clock this afternoon in the home of Frank McKee, West One Hundred and Eighty-third street, will put a happy climax to a pretty little romance, in which the son of Consul-General John C. New and a charming southerner have played leading roles.

The bridegroom is Harry S. New, the bride Miss Catherine McLean, lately with Kate Cartwright's company in "Faust," at the Lyceum.

Miss McLean is a beautiful young woman, tall, graceful and accomplished. She is a brunette, with great black eyes and cherry lips. She would command attention anywhere. She is twenty-two years old, was educated in a Canadian convent and speaks several languages.

Harry is thirty-two. He has had charge of his father's Indianapolis Journal since the latter became Consul-General at London and Birmingham went to Washington as private secretary to President Harrison. He is popular and a thorough newspaper man.

The couple became acquainted in Detroit before recently forced Miss McLean to upon the stage. The engagement has been kept a secret.

Friends and close friends have been invited to the wedding. After the wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. New will repair to the Olney Hotel, where they will remain.

This is Mr. New's second marriage. In 1880 he and Miss McLean, a beautiful Chicago girl, were married.

They came to a pretty little Ivy-clad church in the suburbs. Service was going on. They entered. After the service young New said abruptly:

"Let's be married."

"The minister started, but after a minute he assented, and the couple drove back to town husband and wife. For three weeks they lived in the city. Then Harry New became a widower, and since then has been a busy newspaper man without apparent marital intent till today.

Two Murderers Hanged in England This Morning.

An Austrian Village Partially Destroyed by a Cloudburst.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Aug. 18.—William Turner, the murderer of little Barbara Waterhouse, was hanged here this morning. Turner protested his innocence to the last.

Barbara Waterhouse, a child only five years of age, the daughter of a quarryman living at Leeds, mysteriously disappeared June 9 from her home and was not found until midnight, June 10, when a policeman found little Barbara's body wrapped in a bundle lying in a street close to the Town Hall.

The child's body had been horribly mutilated and the legs and arms almost severed. In addition the limbs were covered with deep gashes.

It was evident that the child's clothes had been replaced on its body after the murder had been committed.

Turner was convicted of the crime.

An Austrian Village Partially Destroyed by a Cloudburst.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
VIENNA, Aug. 18.—A cloudburst from Botzen, an Austrian town at the confluence of the Teller and Eltsch, announces the partial destruction of the village of Kollman through a cloudburst.

The cloud, it appears, burst over the mountain near Botzen, which is protected from inundation by a strong dyke, two miles in length. The fall of water flooded the low lands and converted a mountain stream into a torrent, which swept through the village of Kollman, carrying away men and cattle and destroying half the houses of that place.

Many persons were drowned and the Bremer Railroad track was flooded.

Denial That the Ukase Was a Political Measure.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 18.—It is known that the Imperial ukase prohibiting the export of iron ore, which has caused so much excitement in the markets of the world, was not only at first opposed by the Duma, but it was also greeted with opposition in various other quarters. The statement that the Imperial measure is a political one is absolutely untrue.

The United States Chief Gunners by the Ukase.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Times to-day, previous to the publication of the Imperial ukase relating to the export of iron ore, says that it is estimated that the Central Europe purchases will be equivalent to 8,000,000 quarters of grain. In wheat, corn and potatoes the chief buyers, the Times says, will be the United States, though England and India will have their share.

Johnston, Tallman & Co., Importers, Assigned To-Day.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
LONDON, Aug. 18.—Johnston, Tallman & Co., Importers and dealers in fireworks, notions, toys, &c., at 41 Barclay street and 387 West, Twelfth street, made an assignment to-day to John M. Young, of J. M. Young & Co., 37 Murray street, without preference.

George H. Johnston and Stephen and George D. Tallman are general partners in the firm, and Edward Spatch and Edward D. Thurston special partners.

Mr. Johnston, Mr. Tallman said to an Evening World reporter:

"The failure is due entirely to the prevailing depression in the money market. We expected to raise a loan of $200,000 by this morning, which would have paid us over until next season had passed. That amount, however, was not forthcoming and our assignment was precipitated. I estimate our liabilities at $1,000,000 and our assets at $1,000,000."

His failure was quite unexpected to ourselves."

Woodrick is commander of the South American steamer Caracas. Upon his return from a voyage recently he was served with a summons and complaint calling him to court to defend his wife's suit for separation. He alleged that he had subjected her to cruel and inhuman treatment.

On one occasion she said, while she was in bed, her husband threw a writing desk on the bed, and had then beat the desk with a large yardstick. He had also compelled her to live alone in a large house in a lonely neighborhood while he was away on his cruises.

Capt. Woodrick has brought a counter-suit, asking for an absolute divorce. He names Alexander J. Phillips, his stevedore, as co-defendant.

In the affidavit filed this morning Capt. Woodrick says that Phillips and his wife have been unduly intimate, and that Mrs. Woodrick was also in the habit of driving the stevedore around town.

In regard to the sword incident, he says that he found the sword in the hands of the stevedore, and that he had then seized the sword and then clubbing the weapon.

Stewart stood guard over him till this morning when he surrendered himself.

The case will be heard on Monday.
